GETTING THERE

Motswiri Camp is located on the banks of the spectacular Selinda Spillway, an ancient watercourse linking the Okavango and Kwando-Linyanti floodplains in northern Botswana. The Selinda Reserve lies to the east of the Okavango Panhandle, and is a revered and exquisite wildlife area.

The camp operates exclusively on 120 000 acres of this magnificent and world-renowned tract of land, and has a private airstrip, where guests to Motswiri Camp will land.

Guests can fly in to Motswiri's adjacent airstrip from Maun and Kasane, which of course, is an experience in itself. The view from the air during the 40-minute light air transfer is of the scenic jewel-toned Delta waterways.

Guests can fly to Maun from any of the following airports: Johannesburg, Cape Town and Gaborone. Upon arrival in Maun or Kasane, you will be escorted to your light air transfer, which will take you the 40-minute journey through the air to Motswiri's private airstrip. Motswiri can take care of all internal flight bookings.

There is a luggage restriction on the light air transfers of 20kgs (44lbs) per person, and a requirement for soft-sided luggage.
